

Fabián Balmaceda Rescia

Software engineer | Multimedia producer | Game developer

San Jose, Costa Rica

(+506) 85923757

fabianbalmaceda2@gmail.com

Linkedin:

www.linkedin.com/in/balmacefa/

GitHub:

<https://github.com/balmacefa>

My name is Fabián Balmaceda Rescia and I am from Costa Rica. I was born and brought up in Heredia. I completed college at the University of Costa Rica. I had developed a keen interest in computers in the school itself and eventually pursued my education that directed my career opportunities to the IT industry. I completed my graduation in Computer Science and Multimedia, and I'm doing a minor degree in 3D Animation and then started preparing for Masters in Artificial Intelligence. As of now, I am a professional computer programmer with knowledge of various multimedia programs like Blender, Unity 3D, Unreal, Maya. I had work in web development projects with Angular, ReactJs, AdonisJs, Laravel, NodeJs, Drupal and Wordpress. I have experience in, C#, PHP, Java, JS, and Python. Apart from programming, I like participating in art and cultural events and I have a passion for sport and training.

I love working with Game and multimedia technologies. I started learning in the University's courses and as an IT assistant in my second year, I develop the University website (<http://www.srp.ucr.ac.cr/>) while learning Drupal in 2 months. Since then I have developed other web apps (<http://icc.fce.ucr.ac.cr/>) and projects as a freelance, and have been continually teaching myself about it. I also work in the development of super combat fighter I add new game modes, fixing bugs and mechanics and game testing in Unity. We develop a stable version for YouTubers and we present the game in PAX West 2018 and launch a Kickstarter campaign. I would enjoy bringing my skill set and enthusiasm to Pocket Sized Hands. I also have experience with 3D programs like Maya and Blender, I have a Licentiate degree in 3D Animation at the University of Costa Rica and I plan to do a master degree in AI in the future. With my determination, passion for multimedia development and ability to learn new technologies, I would like to improve my skills and learn new ones with Pocket Sized Hands.

Thank you for your consideration and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Fabián Balmaceda Rescia.